CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS MEET.

The Congress Street M. P. Church, on 31st treet between M and N, is by no means a small church, yet there was no room to spare last evening after the opening of the regular monthly mass meeting of the Christian Endeavor Union of the District of Columbia.

The meeting opened with the usual devotional exercises, conducted by the president of the union, Mr. P. S. Foster. Then a report was received from the committee on transportation to the Montreal convention next July through Mr. L. A. Conner, jr., of the com-

Mr. Conner stated that preparations for the convention were well under way, and that it or the Endeavorers of the city would go. The expense of the trip will be about $35.

The resolution said: "Believing that the holding of such concerts on the Sabbath by a band of musicians connected with one of the great departments of the government in a govern-ment building which is occupied by another great department and as a part of the cere-monies connected with the inauguration of the President of this great Chris-tian nation, by and with the sanction of her chosen rulers, would be a mitional sin; believ-ing, also, that such desecration as proposed is unprecedented, and would result in incalculable harm to the sanctity of the Lord's day and mitation in secularizing the Sabbath day, we, therefore, earnestly protest against such concerts on the day stated, and request that orders be issued forbidding the use of any government building for such a purpose on that

"T'LL DRINK OR I'LL DIE."

This Is What an Inebriate Said-And He Died.

What is the Drink Habit? Can Its Cravings Be Destroyed? Let Us See.

It is needless to moralize on the direful effects of intoxicating liquors when used to excess. Moralists have written thousands of books thereon; philanthropists have founded asylums and reformatories; physicians have labored and expostulated; wives and mothers have pleaded tearfully, yet the terrible fact remains that the curse is more rampant than ever. What is to be done? Legislation has proved unavailing. So far as it goes, law right; but appetite cannot be controlled by the statute book. We must treat the drink habit inteiligently and understandingly, and when we claim that it is a disease and should be treated as such, we believe we have come near the method by which the problem can be solved. Arguments, threats and punishment have proved futile. Let us now try reason and common sense.

"Are you one of those people who believe Sullivan was drugged?" the reporter asked.

"I am perfectly convinced of it," was the reply. "The afternoon of the fight we had him examined by a prominent New Orleans physician, who pronounced him physically sound. I sat in a box with the doctor that night, and when Sullivan entered the arena he exclaimed: "There's something wrong here. That's not the same man I examined this afternoon!" He was right; Sullivan fought like a cow. He ought to have been whipped in two rounds. How was the job done? Why, we never let a meal go up to John in New Orleans that Casey did not sulley—a passage through the Lick House—from the comstock. He came to San Francisco and began gambling in stocks. His money soon began to go, and then he opened a cash grocery store. That venture failed, and about four years ago he was running the bar and dining room on the steamer which plies between San Francisco and Stockton. At one time he

Dr. Keeney and Dr. John F. Morse arrived about the same time. After a brief examina-tion they stated that the wound was not fatal. The bullet entered under the shoulder blade and glanced toward the right. It was suggested that physicians should delay probing for the bullet until Mr. Mackay became more composed, but the wounded man insisted that the operation should be proceeded with immediately. Soon after 2 o'clock the physicians extracted the bullet. Dr. Morse said that the bullet entered below the shoulder blade and ranging slightly toward the right struck the vertebres, lodging in one of the spinous pro-cesses. Dr. Morse said that the wound was not necessarily fatal, but that his patient was by no means out of danger. He added that in cases of gunshot wounds there was always danger of blood poisoning or lockjaw. When closely questioned Dr. Morse said that it was too soon after extraction to foretell the termination of the wound, but that Mr. Mackay was resting

The news spread rapidly, and Mr. Mackay had hardly reached his room before it was besieged with friends, anxious to know whether his wound was serious. As he had not yet been examined by a surgeon, it was thought ad-visable to receive no one. The assurance was, however, sent out to his friends that he did not consider his wound serious, and that he was not confined to his bed.

STORY OF THE SHOOTING. Mackay's statement of the affair is as follows: "I was walking down Sutterstreet, bound for my room to pack my vallee, as I intended to go to Virginia City this afternoon. When I reached Lick alley I thought it would be a short cut to the hotel. I had hardly taken two steps into Lick alley when I heard a pistol shot. Backed up by a cash offer—the statements that are made by the proprietors of Doctor Sage's Catarrh Remedy. They say that their medicine will care, perfectly and permanmedicine will cure, perfectly and permanently, the worst case of Chronic Catarrh in the Head—that not only Catarrh itself, but all the troubles that come from it, and every all the troubles that come from it, and every thing catarrhal in its nature, are cured by the mild, soothing, cleansing and healing properties of their remedy.

They can't say any more. Probably every medicine for Catarrh claims as much. Bat it's one thing to promise a cure—it's a very different thing to perform it. The proprietors of Dr. Sage's Remedy want to prove that they mean what they say. So they make this offer: If they can't cure your Catarrh, no matter how bad your case or of how long standing they'll nay you $500 in how long standing, they'll pay you $500 in cash. You're sure of the money or a cure. Ian't such a medicine worth trying?

THE TIME HAS PAST.

The time when the use of acids, hot wires, ele trodes, caustics and escharotics was necessary in treating catarrh is past. It is a torture that should be consigned to the rack and thumbscrew period and should be prohibited by law.

People have got beyond the nose-burning period. They do not court pain. They avoid it, and from those who have been treated by the old-fashioned and rbarous systems are often heard remarks like this:

"They burned my nose out."
"They ruined my sense of taste and smell." "I was treated three or four times a week and nearly strangled at each treatment." "I was treated for ten months and found the treatment worse than the disease."
"I was treated for twelve months and am worse now than when I commenced."

"The stuff they put into my nose burned holes eries women of 40, 50 and 60 are restored to your "Some of the medicine they sprayed into my nose got on my dress and ruined it." Ladies and centlemen are alike indignant at the way they have been treated, and in many cases the effects through life.

But the new methods pursued by Dr. Newlin has abolished all this. It is painless and pleasant, at the same ti-e permanently curing the disease. It is glad news to the tortured and is based on skill and experithe fact that every day people come into our office who have been treated from 2 to 12 months by other syshave been treated from 2 to 12 months by other systems without benefit, but after taking this treatment express themselves as exceedingly well pleased, and improved from the start. Further proof of the superiority of the new treatment is, physicians of this city who have taken treatment of us are loudest in its praise.
